

STONE

Stone is an innovative project that takes the participants on a creative journey. Using beautiful coloured stones and specially designed sounds the class will discover the power of the imagination.

During the sessions the class will -

Learn about the nature of Ideas - the difference between knowledge and creative insight

Discover how to gather ideas from sound

Understand how we all perceive things differently - and in order to be authentic we need to express these ideas and not just follow the crowd.

Discover Onomatopoeia and build their sonic vocabulary

Understand the divergent nature of the mind and use this in their writing

Use organisational techniques that will help their writing in the future

Build models from sound - changing something sonic in to a three dimensional model that is used for story and poetry

Please contact phil@writeinspired.co.uk or call 07980800469

to discuss any questions you have